WORTH $300,000,000.

The President of a certain big Oil Company is said to be worth $300,000,000. A tidy bit of money and no mistake. And yet he isn't happy. In an address to a Bible class he spoke of trials and troubles of the rich and the loads they have to carry. A young lady whispered to a friend that he might wear a Benson's Porous Plaster on his back or, better still, divide the money among the members of the class. I don't know why her idea about the plaster makes me want to laugh, but it does. All the same I have seen plenty of people laugh after putting Benson's Plasters on their backs or chests, or on any other spot where there was weight, heaviness, weakness or pain. It may be the sharp stabs of neuralgia, the aches and wrenches of rheumatism; it may be colds in muscles or bones; it may be those kidney or lumbago thrusts that make you yell as at a dog bite; or it may be a strain or cramp, anything that wants quieting and comforting. Dont bother with salves, liniments, lotions, etc., or with any of the stupid and useless old style plasters. Clap on a Benson's. It relieves at once and cures quickly. It stops the pain and makes you laugh for the very ease and good feeling of it. But watch out against imitations and substitutes. All druggists, or we will prepay postage on any number ordered in the United States on receipt of 25c. each.

Angele's Rude Awakening

Why She Married One Man and Loved Another.

By KATHRYN JARBOE.

There were two of them in her life—one, her lover, was a man of her own class, the son of a neighboring farmer; the other was an Englishman gentleman.

One toiled from the pale gray and pink dawn to the dull, leaden darkness trying to extract a living for himself and his bride from the barren hillside farm; the other employed some twenty laborers to beautify the grounds about his summer home on the crest of the ridge.

One had given his heart and soul into Angele Delamater's hands and accounted himself blessed when she had placidly accepted his gifts; the other had noted her carelessly, thought her a pretty girl, told her so more or less directly and, quite unwittingly be it said, awakened the love that had never been aroused by Jim Thorne's appeals.

And the wedding day was creeping nearer and nearer, while the glamour of the rich Englishman was enshrouding her in its filmy mist.

Only eight or ten times had she seen him. The first time, perhaps the second, even the third, had made little impress on her mind. He was as far removed from her as the hilltop pines were distant from the scrub oaks and chaparral of her future home.

Then came the day when he drew rein at her father's gate to speak to the old man about a boundary fence. Angele, pummeling her bread by the open window, listened to the well modulated voice. So different from Jim's—that was the first thought that occurred to her. In answer to her father's call she took them the outline map of the farm, and Seymour sprang from his horse, coming half way up the walk to take the papers from her, for the sun was hot, so he said.

She wore no hat, and the blistering rays would burn her face, her hair—what was it that he did say or suggest? His own head was uncovered while he spoke to her, and he looked like some glorious blond giant—like the golden haired knight of her childhood dreams.

Who had ever thought of saving her a step, of sheltering her from the ordinary sunlight of her hills? Not her father, not her brothers, not Jim.

The next time she met him she was carrying some brilliant scarlet quince blossoms, and what wonder was it that he compared the livid blossoms with the living scarlet lips above them?

Then it was, too, that he told her that the night before as he lay in his hammock watching the moon slip out from the entangling arms of the pines he had remembered that her hair matched the marvelous blue black of the night sky.

He had thought of her up there in his wonderful home! He had remembered her—remembered how she looked! Could her imagination do otherwise than run mad riot?

The next meetings, quite accidental on his part, carefully planned on hers, were in the redwood circle through which the trail ran, from which it dropped down the sandy slope to Ben Lomond. There were few words spoken, but these the girl's heart translated into its own language and in so doing enveloped them in wondrous beauty. Her mind, hearing only through her heart, was quite unconscious of the matter of fact, commonplace phrases. It heard only love.

When the wedding morning dawned, the Delamater farm was enveloped in a sea fog. The sun stretched himself lazily over the hills, and slowly the mist withdrew into the canyons, valiantly held a hillside for a moment and then scurried back in undignified retreat. But vanquished it would not be, and all around its masses stood in close array. The farm itself, encircled with roses that gave place in ever widening rings to blossom laden orchards, seemed an oasis in the gnarled and rugged hillsides on which it lay.

Angele, a dull, only partially comprehended misery in her heart, was dressing for the ceremony. She had asked to be left quite alone in her little white room on this last morning at home, and now she stood by the window, looking out blankly at the white, misty wall that shut out the view of the vineyard home to which she was so soon to go and the columned verandas of Seymour's house.

She was listening, too, half heartedly to the sounds below—to the mother and sisters busying themselves about the preparations for the wedding feast. She heard her father talking to Jim—to Jim, who had driven over early, hoping to see her, hoping that he could find words in which to tell her all that he wanted to say—to tell her all that he longed for in life was to make her happy; that even now he would give her up if she did not feel that she could be content with him.

For the honest, stupid, plodding boy had seen the shadow on his sweetheart's face, and, although he could not know its substance, he was unwilling to stand between his beloved and the sun of her life. But Angele had refused to see him. There would be time enough for all that afterward, she told herself, and that, too, was the message she sent to him.

She leaned forward to caress a rose that blossomed just beyond the green shutter, and then she saw him—Seymour—riding slowly down the trail. A sudden rush of blood from her heart to her head deprived it of all sense, of all reason. He had come! He would save her! That was the message that flashed along the crimson stream. He was on his way to the tryst under the great cathedral trees. She must meet him there.

With feverish fingers she dressed, rejoicing in the pretty details of her traveling gown. Were they not all for him? Had she not known all the time in reality that they were for him? Poor Jim! But he would get over it. They always did, and—She stopped suddenly and looked in the glass at the scarlet lips, brilliant as Japan's quince blossoms, at the blue black hair so like the summer night. A quick rush of tears dimmed all the vision. Poor little mother! Would she get over it?

The girl tore a scrap of paper from the box that had held the wedding hat and wrote a hurried note to her mother. Then once more she went to the window. The fog was again shutting down and enveloping like a bridal veil the green trees under which even now Seymour must be waiting for her. Hurry! She must hurry to him.

And then she saw that Seymour himself was standing by the gate and that her father was walking down the path, his long white hair gleaming like silver. Courteously enough the Englishman greeted him, adding: "About that boundary line, Mr. Delamater. Couldn't you come with me now to look over the land? We may as well come to terms about it today."

"But not today." The old French peasant's voice had lost its cringing tone in his broadening American life, but he understood that the rich landowner knew nothing, cared nothing, about the personal affairs of the poor. Still he explained, "It is Angele's—it is my daughter's wedding day, and"—

"Oh, Miss Angy's wedding day. Surely I had forgotten." Seymour's tone held a note that might almost have been an apology, so kindly were his feelings toward these his poor neighbors. "Of course business has no place today. Give my best wishes to the bride. Thorne is a fine fellow, I think, and I am sure that Miss Delamater and you are both to be congratulated."

He rode away into the fog, never glancing at the shutter behind which the white face was hidden, never dreaming that in the bride's heart or mind there was place or thought for him.

The lares and penates in the little white room watched her through her half hour of agony, through her hour of conquest, and then saw her pass out from among them forever, ready to face her little world, ready to take up the honest burden of life.

The ceremony was over, the toasts were all drunk and the bride had driven away. Such a fine wedding! Such a pretty bride! These were the comments of the simple country folk, and only the mother eyes had seen the pain and, seeing it, had known that her uneasy fears had been realities; that Angele had married the one, loving the other with her whole heart. Through a rain of tears she watched the dust cloud move slowly down the mountain until it mingled with the fog cloud, and then she turned into her own room and on her knees by her bed prayed for help for her child. To her there Angele's note, written in fierce, impossible joy, forgotten in intolerable anguish, was brought:

Oh, mother, little mother! I am going away with the man I love. The other was all a mistake. Nothing but misery could have come out of it; nothing but joy will come from this. You will know that I am right in time. ANGELE.

The mother's eyes read, and the mother's heart was comforted.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Stars We Can't See.

To the average eye not more than 5,000 stars are visible. Some persons having extraordinarily strong eyes can see about 8,000 stars. Through the Lick telescope and other powerful instruments about 50,000,000 stars are visible. There are believed to be stars in existence beyond the reach of any telescope yet constructed.

A Wonderful Dress.

On the occasion of a garden party at Benares, given by the viceroy, a wonderful dress was worn by the Countess Palovolovetsch, which excited much admiration. Seen from near at hand the gown seemed to be made up of tongues of blue flame, with occasional streaks of bright light flashing across and all resting on a bed of liquid fire. Then the appearance would change, and its wearer seemed to be wrapped in multicolored flame. It was noticed that the countess never sat down, but was constantly on the move. During her peregrinations a friend asked her about her marvelous costume and discovered that it was a simple gown of rich brocade ornamented with fireflies. There were 535 of these little creatures, each in a tiny net, fastened to the dress.

Your Eye In a Mirror.

A very curious fact is the impossibility of moving your eye while examining the reflection of that organ in a mirror. It is really the most movable part of the face, yet if you hold your head fixed and try to move your eye while watching it you cannot do it even the one-thousandth of an inch. Of course if you look at the reflection of the nose or at any other part of the face your eye must move to see it. But the strange thing is that the moment you endeavor to perceive the motion the eye is fixed. This is one of the reasons why a person's expression as seen by himself in a glass is quite different from what it is when seen by others.

A Reminiscence of Wagner.

Dr. Mason, the well known musician, in his volume of reminiscences gives an interesting account of his visit to Richard Wagner. When he was leaving, the composer of "Der Ring des Nibelungen" handed him a theme written on a staff made by his own hand, bidding the young pianist, if he ever heard anything like that, to remember him. It afterward turned out that this theme was the familiar "dragon" motive from the "ring" dramas, but in the form in which it appears only in the second act of "Siegfried." At the time when the composer gave it to Dr. Mason the drama was yet unknown to the world.

Rapid Sailing.

On a fishing smack one bright, calm night the captain and his men went down to supper, leaving the wheel in charge of the cabin boy.

He was not very experienced, and the captain before going below said:

"Boy, steer by that star, and you will be right."

However, in a short time he got the boat out of her course, the consequence being that the star appeared astern instead of ahead. Upon seeing this he sang out to the captain:

"Hi, skipper, come and find me another star! I've passed that one!"

A Catarrh Cure.

To arrest an incipient nasal catarrh use powdered boracic acid freely as a snuff. It will cause sneezing, but if taken repeatedly it will reduce the inflammation and bring it to a speedy termination. As a gargle boracic acid is also excellent in all stages of sore throat. The gargle can be made by dissolving a tablespoonful in one pint of boiling water. Use when cold. It is unfitted for children.

LIGHT AND DARK,

Day and night, sunshine and shadow are not more different from each other than a healthful from a sickly woman. The healthful woman carries light and sunshine with her wherever she goes.

The woman who suffers from ill-health casts a shadow on her own happiness and the happiness of others. She cannot help it. Those who suffer cannot smile and sing.

Ill-health in woman is generally traceable to disease of the delicate womanly organism. Many women have been restored to happiness by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"I feel it my duty to inform you that I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine for this or that complaint as my troubles became unbearable. In the spring of 1897 my husband induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and then I did not take any more for several weeks as I felt so much better, but still I was not completely cured. I commenced taking it again and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained about ten pounds in weight and one thousand of comfort, for I am a new woman once more."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ASTHMA CURE FREE.

SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE ON RECEIPT OF POSTAL.
WRITE YOUR NAME AND ADDRESS PLAINLY.

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS of Villa Ridge Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler,
Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel.
NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1901.

DRS. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.,
Gentlemen: Your trial bottle of Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is wonderful and astonishing.

After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether. Very truly yours,
REV. DR. MORRIS WECHSLER.

AVON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic Asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After taking one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.
Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT-BROS. MEDICINE CO. February 5, 1901.
Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for 22 years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I have a family of four children, and for six years was unable to work. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make use of as you see fit.

H. H. GRANICE - - - - - - - - - - - - EDITOR

A. B. LEMMON of the Santa Rosa Republican has been re-appointed Postmaster of that city for another four years.

THE Press Committee of the Cloverdale Citrus Fair will please accept our thanks for a complimentary season ticket. The Fair will be the real thing this season. It opens February 19th. and closes on Saturday night, February 22d.

THE Out West, a very creditable magazine, is upon our table. It is devoted to the interests of the Pacific Coast. Robt. A. Thompson, a leading journalist of California, is the manager. He was the founder of the Santa Rosa Democrat, the oldest newspaper in Sonoma county, which he published for many years.

NEXT July a law goes into effect in South Carolina which prohibits the offering for sale anywhere in the State any pistol weighing less than three pounds and less than twenty-two inches in length. The object of the law is to put an end to the practice of carrying concealed weapons. Talk about the wild and woolly West, Kentucky feuds, etc., South Carolina's not half bad.

ROBT. HALL, local U. S. Signal Service Observer, writes that February last year was a very wet month, 5.65 inches being the precipitation as against 1.21 inches for February, 1900. The record indicates a difference of five inches less rain this season than last up to the present time, but it must be taken into consideration what rain we have had this season has came to us in gentle showers and has done as much good as a heavier downpour, which would have made its way to tide water. Sonoma Creek so far this season has had no precipitation sufficient to raise the level more than one-third bank full, enough to allow the salmon to run up stream and spawn. Almonds have commenced to blossom, the first blooms made their appearance about a week ago. This omen or augury to the horticulturist indicates an early season. Have you taken notice that Easter comes early this year?

Personal

Dr. G. Z. Hunter of Glen Ellen is reported to be critically ill.

Mrs. J. V. Miner, who resides on her well-kept farm near Glen Ellen, visited friends here Thursday.

Barnum's Monkeys

"All well—all happy—lots of fun". That is the regular report from the monkey cage of Barnum's Circus ever since the keepers began dosing the monkeys with Scott's Emulsion. Consumption was carrying off two thirds of them every year and the circus had to buy new ones.

One day a keeper accidentally broke a bottle of Scott's Emulsion near the monkey cage and the monkeys eagerly lapped it up from the floor. This suggested the idea that it might do them good. Since then the monkeys have received regular doses and the keepers report very few deaths from consumption. Of course it's cheaper to buy Scott's Emulsion than new monkeys—and that suits the circus men.

Consumption in monkeys and in man is the same disease. If you have it or are threatened with it can you take the hint?

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

Weekly Crop Bulletin.

United States Department of Agriculture. Climate and Crop Bulletin of the Weather Bureau, California Section, Coast and Bay Division, for the week ending Monday, February 9, 1902:

Conditions have been generally favorable for crops during the week, but heavy rains in the northern counties have somewhat retarded work in fields, orchards and vineyards. The warm weather has caused a rapid growth of grain and green feed in all sections. The rainfall in the southern districts has been lighter than in the north, but sufficient to greatly improve crop prospects and enable farmers to resume plowing and seeding. Grain is in excellent condition, and large crops are probable. Pasturage is abundant and stock is doing well. Orchards and vineyards are in excellent condition.

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—that acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially after sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"It has been a long time since we have been without Hood's Sarsaparilla. My father thinks he could not do without it. He has been troubled with rheumatism since he was a boy, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine he can take that will enable him to take his place in the field." MISS ADA DOTY, Sidney, Iowa.

COLONEL L. D. WILGUS IN TROUBLE.

The Ex-Sonoma Resident on Trial for Forgery.

L. D. Wilgus, a former resident of Sonoma, who has been doing business in Sacramento for a number of years as a pension attorney, is in trouble. He was recently arrested in that city on a charge of forgery and Tuesday last he was placed on trial before a jury in the United States District Court sitting in San Francisco. Wilgus is charged in the indictment with having forged the name of Captain R. B. Wilkinson of Company A, One Hundredth Pennsylvania Regiment of Volunteers, to an affidavit reciting that Wm. Matthews, alias James Brown, a colored man, had been a member of Company B, First Regiment of Volunteers, during the Civil War.

Wilgus, in testifying in his own behalf, said that he had written the affidavit and signed it as Wilkinson, but that the facts narrated therein were true. Wilgus, who is a veteran of the Civil War, then narrated how he had met Matthews in the military hospital on the battle field between Petersburg and Richmond, Va., at a certain time.

The prosecution rebutted Col. Wilgus' statement by putting C. Hesse, a clerk in the War Department at Washington, on the stand, who swore that at the time mentioned by Wilgus the regiment to which Matthews claimed to belong was in North Carolina. The case is in the hands of the jury and things look blue for the accused.

Col. Wilgus is well known here as a polished gentleman but an inveterate drinker. He came here thirteen years ago with his wife, a highly cultured and estimable woman. The couple took up their residence on what is now known as the Graves place, which they bought from Mrs. De Forest, a San Francisco milliner, who then owned the property. Fourteen thousand dollars was paid for the farm, which proved a disastrous investment to them. This caused Col. Wilgus to take to his cups with desperate energy, and it was not long before the fortune which Mrs. Wilgus brought her husband when they were married in Pennsylvania previous to their coming to California, was entirely dissipated.

After leaving here, Col. Wilgus, who appeared to have no control over his passion for liquor, led a sort of vagabondish life in San Francisco for awhile and later turned up in Sacramento. Mrs. Wilgus returned to her girlhood home in Pennsylvania, where she has rich and influential relatives, secured a divorce, entered a big hospital in Philadelphia to train for a nurse and is now the head woman of the establishment. She is rapidly regaining a portion of a fortune lost by an unfortunate marriage with a drunkard who had no control over the demon that was consuming the manhood of a natural born gentleman and a gallant and brave soldier of the internecine strife of forty years ago.

Col. Wilgus, shortly after being divorced by his wife, remarried and the issue of that marriage is three young children, who, with the mother are left in destitute circumstances. For Col. Wilgus has been found guilty and will be sentenced to-day to serve a term in prison, a ruined and degarded man.

Shot Himself in the Hand.

Doc Engler, the sixteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Engler, while out hunting last Tuesday, accidentally shot himself in the left hand with a 22-calibre revolver. The accident took place near the Cooper bridge on Sonoma creek. The injured lad was brought into town and the bullet was extracted by Dr. Thomson. The wound was a flesh one and the youngster will have the use of the hand again in a few weeks.

City Registration

Re-registration of voters for the municipal election in April has been inaugurated in this place by James H. Albersson, who has been appointed a Deputy County Clerk especially for that purpose. As registration closes within forty days of our local election voters should see to it that they are re-registered before the last week of the present month if they desire to cast a ballot. The election will be held on Monday, April 7th. Registration closes February 25th.

THE CLOVERDALE CITRUS FAIR

Cheap Railway Excursion Rates

The Citrus Fair which opens at Cloverdale on February 19th and closes on February 22d, will be a a great Sonoma county event this year. The Fair will be unusually attractive and the good people of Cloverdale are preparing to receive a large crowd of visitors. Not to be outdone by the people of the citrus town in their efforts to make the Fair a success, the California Northwestern Railway Company, with an eye open to the interests of Sonoma county, have decided to issue cheap excursion round trip tickets to the Fair. These tickets will be sold on Friday and Saturday, February 21st and 22d, for regular trains, for $3.00 from all points on the Sonoma Valley branch. These tickets will hold good to return home on any train up to Monday afternoon. This exceedingly liberal rate ought to land a big crowd in Cloverdale from this valley. If you don't attend the Citrus Fair this year you are not in it.

GOUAILHARDOU-MULLEN.

A Popular Young Couple of El Verano Wed in the Metropolis.

Mr. Pierre Gouailhardou and Miss Mary Mullen of El Verano were married in San Francisco last Saturday evening. The solemn ceremony that made the young couple man and wife through the journey of life was impressively performed in St. Mary's Cathedral by the Rev. Father H. H. Wyman. Miss Emily Serveau, a niece of the groom, attended the bride, and Mr. Christopher A. Thomas, cousin of the bride, officiated as best man. Only the relatives and a few immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. Following the ceremony there was a banquet at a popular California-street restaurant.

The bride is the eldest daughter of M. F. Mullen, the Southern Pacific's faithful and energetic station agent at El Verano, and is well-known for her many excellent qualities of heart and mind.

Mr. Gouailhardou is the genial and popular proprietor of the Bellevue Hotel, who during his year's residence in this valley has made many friends among our people.

The newly-married couple have returned from their honeymoon trip and are now quartered at the Bellevue.

Mrs. Eastman Dead.

Mrs. K. F. Eastman died at the home of her daughter in this place last Tuesday. The malady that caused her death was pneumonia, the symptoms of which developed only a few days before her death. The deceased was the widow of the late Charles Eastman and the beloved mother of Mrs. R. T. Nickerson of this place, Mrs. Woodworth, the late Mrs. Brittain, Mrs. Brown and Misses Lottie, Ruby, Clara and Hettie Eastman. She was a native of New York and aged 55 years 2 months and 23 days. The remains were taken to San Francisco Wednesday morning for interment in that city.

Had His Life Insured

Chas. J. Poppe of Glen Ellen has petitioned the Superior Court for letters of administration upon the estate of Henry R. Marten, who died last week at the home of his mother in that place. The estate consists of a $1,000 insurance policy in the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York. Mr. Poppe's petition was filed at the request of deceased's mother, in whose favor the policy is made out. Robt. Poppe is the attorney for the petitioner.

MRS. DORA GLAISTER'S CONDITION

Operation for Appendicitis Successfully Performed.

Accompanied by Dr. Hennessey of Napa, her husband and mother Mrs. Skelton Glaister (nee Dora Burris) made the trip from this place via Napa to St. Winifred's Hospital, San Francisco, on Friday of last week without mishap.

The following day the sufferer was placed upon the operating table and the veriform appendix removed. The patient underwent the operation heroically and it was successfully performed, although Mrs. Glaister will not have passed the danger point until to-day.

A telephone message from the hospital received here yesterday reported the patient as resting easy and that no unfavorable symptoms had set in.

A REMARKABLE RESCUE FROM DROWNING.

"Not Born to Die that Way" Again Exemplified.

The Petaluma Courier of Tuesday records a most remarkable case of rescue from drowning in a creek near that place on that day. The creek, which is located just this side of Petaluma, was running like a mill race the fore part of the week owing to the recent heavy rains. Large quantities of drift wood came down with the current and Ray Rodehaver stood on the bank of the stream catching the wood. He used a hay hook fastened to the end of a long pole.

He saw an object floating past which looked like the back of a man's head. He reached out with his hook, seized the object and was dumbfounded to discover that he was dragging a man to shore. The body was entirely submerged except the back of the head and was floating face down. The hay hook had taken a secure hold on a jumper worn by the drowning man and the body was dragged to the bank by Mr. Rodehaver, but he could not land it without assistance. The rescuer's cries for help brought Edward Kelsey to the rescue and together they succeeded in getting the man out of the water. After working over him for some time he was revived and able to speak.

The man proved to be Mr. Morosco, father-in-law of Mr. Fereira, who resides on the Wiseman place, half a mile from where the rescue took place. He is sixty-two years of age. He was engaged in fishing for drift wood and was pulled into the current while endeaving to land a log. He was swept down stream by the current and could not help himself. He was badly used up by his rapid half-mile spin in the swift waters of the creek.

Fifteen feet beyond where he was rescued is a dam over which the water whirls upon boulders below. Had the old man gone over the dam he would certainly have been crushed to death.

Excitement at the Home

There was an explosion at the California Home at Eldridge on Sunday last. No harm was done but the event created quite a commotion among a number of the employees of the big institution. The explosion was caused by one of the furnace doors blowing out.

ATTACKED BY A VICIOUS BOAR.

James Predroia Seriously Bitten by the Animal.

James Predroia, employed in the Central Market, while at work in the corral of the slaughter house, located in the western suburbs of town, last Monday afternoon, was savagely attacked by a big boar and badly bitten on the right thigh. While passing through the corral, the porker, which had never before exhibited signs of viciousness, with a loud snort made a rush at Predroia and before he could get out of its way seized him by the right leg and bit deeply into the flesh. He succeeded in kicking the beast off and putting it to flight. Pedroia then hurried to town and had Dr. Thomson dress the wound, which was nearly two inches in depth. Although the wound is painful it is not considered dangerous with proper care and attention, although jockjaw frequently supervenes in cases of this kind.

Miss Etta Lawler of Petaluma is the guest of Mrs. G. Lawler of Schellville. Miss Lawler will shortly leave for San Luis Obispo county, where she is engaged to teach school.

A special train of twenty-five carloads of cattle passed through this place last Tuesday. The cattle were shipped from Southern California and were en route to the pasture fields of Mendocino county.

Firemens' Banquet

The Sonoma Volunteer Firemen held their annual banquet last Wednesday evening at the Garibald House. The spread set before the fire jakies and their invitod guests by Mr. and Mrs. Modini was all that could be desire. Carl Dresel's usual contribution of two cases of his choicest wine did much to add to the cheer of the banquet board. The following firemen and invited guests were present: W. Landgrebe, J. E. Poppe, G. S. Harris, J H. Albertson, W. Clewe, G. Breitenbach, L. Modini, D. Valente, N. Ahern, Jas. B. Small, W. F. Wilson, F. Demartini, A. Schwelckhardt, J. G. Marcy, L. Quartaroli, N. Codiga, E. THE RAINFALL.

The Precipitation for the Storm Nearly Two Inches.

The storm which set in last week culminated Tuesday with heavy rains, since which time the weather has been warm and showery and very encouraging to our farmers and dairymen. The precipitation for the storm was over two inches, and the ground received a thorough soaking. The rainfall so far this season has been only 13.09 inches as against 18.06 for a corresponding period last year.

For the first time in many years there is an absence of fruit blossoms in our orchards this month, owing to the extreme cold weather of December and January. This is a favorable indication of a heavy fruit crop the coming season.

Jack Kearney, who is now employed in the Alameda Cutlery Works, was visiting in El Verano Sunday.

Ranald McDonell passed through town Monday. He sported a brand new pair of kid gloves and looked very swagger.

A. Yenni has purchased the saloon building in this place occupied the past two years by Felici Clerici. He will take possession in the near future.

Angelo Frediani of St. Helena, Napa county. son-in-law of Frank Ferroggiaro, spent several days here the fore part of the week.

Twenty-five car-loads of beef cattle from Wyoming passed through here Sunday evening en route to Santa Rosa. They were consigned to J. P. Noonan.

Frank Ferroggiaro is about to make another land investment in this place. This time he has his eye on a lot opposite Felici Clerici's saloon. Should he be able to close a deal for the lot in question he will erect a neat building on the same for saloon purposes.

Mons. Pierre Gouailhardou, the popular proprietor of the Bellevue Hotel, and his amiable bride returned from their wedding trip Monday evening and are now complacently sipping the nectar of matrimonial felicity at the Bellevue. Their many friends wish them bon voyage down the river of life.

Granville Harris and Jas. Campbell were in this place Wednesday viewing the many improvements in this burg. They were also making inquiries about that weeping willow which will shortly be planted here with appropriate ceremonies in honor of George H. Maxwell, the godfather, as it were, of this blooming city.

MOTHERHOOD

The greatest ambition of American men and women is to have homes blessed with children. The woman afflicted with female disease is constantly menaced with becoming a childless wife. No medicine can restore dead organs, but Wine of Cardui does regulate derangements that prevent conception; does prevent miscarriage; does restore weak functions and shattered nerves and does bring babies to homes barren and desolate for years. Wine of Cardui gives women the health and strength to bear healthy children. You can get a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui from your dealer.

WINE OF CARDUI

143 Market Street,
Memphis, Tenn., April 14, 1901.

In February, 1901, I took one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. I had been married fifteen years and had never given birth to a child until I took Wine of Cardui. Now I am mother of a fine baby girl which was born March 31, 1901. The baby weighs fourteen pounds and I feel as well as any person could feel. Now my home is happy and I never will be without Wine of Cardui in my house again. Mrs. J. W. C. SMITH.

A CHINESE BANQUET.

Three Hours of Queer Dishes and Peculiar Combinations.

For the first course were handed sugared cakes, caviare, fried grasshoppers, dried fruits and Ningpo oysters. Then followed successively at short intervals ducks', pigeons' and peewits' eggs poached, swallows' nests with mashed eggs, fricassees of ginseng, stewed sturgeons' gills, whales' sinews with sweet sauce, fresh water tadpoles, fried crabs' spawn, sparrows' gizzards, sheep's eyes stuffed with garlic, radishes in milk flavored with apricot kernels, matelotes of holithurias, bamboo sprouts in sirup and sweet salads, says The Leisure Hour.

The last course consisted of pineapples from Singapore, earthnuts, salted almonds, savory mangoes, the white, fleshy fruits of the long yen, the pulpy fruits of the litchee, chestnuts and preserved oranges from Canton. After the dessert rice was served, which the guests raised to their mouths with little chopsticks, according to the custom of their country.

Three hours were spent over the banquet. When it was ended and at the time when, according to European usage, salvers of rosewater are frequently handed round, the waiting maids brought napkins steeped in warm water, which all the company rubbed over their faces apparently with great satisfaction.

Old Marriage Manners.

The French "dot" comes probably from the small coin which the Roman bride brought with her to her husband's house.

The modern scramble for the bride's bouquet comes from a similar scramble that took place at the close of the ancient ceremony, when the guests fought good naturedly over the white thorn torch that had been borne in the bridal procession.

The most marked difference between old and new ideas lies in the fact that a part of June was forbidden the Romans as a time for weddings. From the 1st to the 15th the month was sacred to Vesta, and no marriages were permitted, although Vesta herself was the goddess of domesticity. May, too, was prohibited, and this is thought to be the reason why May marriages still are considered unlucky. Roman belief and customs forbade the ceremony also from the 13th to the 24th of February, from the 1st to the 6th of March, on the 24th of August, the 5th of October and the 6th of November, three days when hades was supposed to be particularly wide open.

The Earthquake.

To the average resident of the temperate zones an earthquake is a rare and terrible event, creating more consternation than any other visitation of nature. In the tropics, however, particularly in Central America, it is wonderful how easily the residents become accustomed to these shocks, which do not come, however, wholly without warning.

You are sitting on a piazza on a hot afternoon chatting with your friends when suddenly the sky seems to grow hazy, and the crows stop cawing. There is a general rush, and, though you may not know what is the matter, you cannot help feeling uneasy.

The old natives say, "We're going to have a little shake," and then the house begins to rock, the tumblers fall off the table, you feel deathly sick at the stomach, and the thing is all over. The sky clears, the crows begin their noisy screams, and things are soon put right again.

A Dog's Graveyard.

Edinburgh boasts of the only graveyard where canine pets are regularly interred and their last resting places marked with gravestones. This old cemetery lies on the northern face of the Castle Rock, below St. Margaret's chapel, in the famous old castle of Edinburgh. It was founded a long time ago for the exclusive use of dogs who have been pets of the various regiments which have been quartered at the castle. Almost twoscore dogs have been buried in it, and the grave of each one is marked, some with stones as large as are used for human beings and others merely tiny monuments. The cemetery is inclosed by a low wall of stone and is always pointed out to visitors as the only one of its kind in the world.

Justifiable.

On one occasion Governor Dick Oglesby went down to Joliet to inspect the state prison, and in one of the cells he found a very ugly man.

"How did you get in here?" asked Oglesby.

"Abduction," was the reply. "I tried to run off with a girl, and they caught me."

"I'll pardon you as soon as I get back to Springfield," said the governor. "I don't see how you could expect to get a wife in any other way."

Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism.

"During the winter of 1898 I was so lame in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. From the first application I began to get well, and was cured and have worked steadily all the year.—R. Wheeler, Northwood, N. Y. For sale by F. Duhring. *

Nasal Catarrh quickly yields to treatment by Ely's Cream Balm, which is agreeably aromatic. It is received through the nostrils, cleanses and heals the whole surface over which it diffuses itself. Druggists sell the 50c. size; Trial size by mail, 10 cents. Test it and you are sure to continue the treatment.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

Free Seeds.

United States Senator Perkins has forwarded to this office from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, a quantity of vegetable seed for distribution in this valley. These seeds, which will be distributed for experimental purposes, consists of lettuce, muskmelon, parsley, tomato, parsnip, corn, beet, squash, pea, watermelon and cucumbers. Parties desiring these seeds will please call at this office.

Something That Will Do You Good.

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its promt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup.—Camden (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by F. Duhring. *

Do you want a brand new Wheeler & Wilson $75 Sewing Machine that has never been used. If so apply at this office. This machine will be warranted and sold cheap on the installment plan. *

For Stomach Troubles.

"I have taken a great many different medicines for stomach trouble and constipation,' says Mrs. S. Geiger of Dunkerton, Iowa, but I never had as good results from any as from Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by F. Duhring. *

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?
ALL CASES OF
DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING
ARE NOW CURABLE
by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.
HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
BALTIMORE, Md., March 30, 1901.
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,
F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.
Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.
Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost.
